WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (By U.P.)—Prophecy that the Republican party will stamp out its wet element and become the official party of the drys was made here today by Representative John F. Carew, Tammany Democrat leader of New York.

Carew said "positively" that J. W. Wadsworth Al Smith will be nominated by the Democratic state convention for another gubernatorial term and that he will win "if he is alive and in good health."

The change in the Republican party will be wrought, Carew said, by the defeat of Senator James W. Wadsworth, New York's outstanding opponent of prohibition in the Republican ranks who is running for re-election in November.

Carew predicted Wadsworth would be defeated by Robert F. Wagner, justice of the New York state Supreme Court, who, he said, is the probable Democratic nominee for the Senate.
